Former state Treasurer Nancy Kopp (D) has been appointed to serve on the Board of Visitors for the University of Maryland Center for Environmental Science, the research and graduate university that advises state and national leaders on environmental management and prepares future scientists to meet the global challenges of the 21st century.

Kopp served as treasurer from 2002 to 2021, following 27 years as a member of the House of Delegates. She was a member of Maryland's Climate Change Commission and a leader in state climate change mitigation and adaptation. Serving on the Board of Public Works with the governor and comptroller, Kopp frequently lobbied for climate change impact to be included in all major state building and development projects.

"We are delighted to welcome Nancy Kopp to our Board of Visitors," said University of Maryland Center for Environmental Science President Peter Goodwin. "As Treasurer, Nancy was an active member of Maryland's Climate Change Commission and a leader in the state's efforts in climate change mitigation and adaptation, with a special focus on reducing inequities and supporting vulnerable communities."
